Virtual Radiologic Ranked No. 1 in the Teleradiology Services Category for Second Consecutive Year in KLAS Report

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., December 16, 2009 – Virtual Radiologic Corporation (NASDAQ:VRAD), a leading global provider of teleradiology services and technology solutions, has again been ranked number one in the Teleradiology Services category by independent research and consulting firm KLAS Enterprises. This ranking measures performance based on customer surveys and interviews conducted by KLAS and published in the organization's 2009 Top 20 Best in KLAS Awards: Software & Professional Services report.

"The KLAS data showed that 100% of customers surveyed would choose us again," said Rob Kill, chief executive officer of Virtual Radiologic. "This is continuing strong validation of the value clients place in Virtual Radiologic as a partner they can trust to provide patients with the quality care they need, when they need it. Most importantly, having been the top ranked teleradiology provider since the inception of coverage by KLAS demonstrates our commitment to consistency in service excellence on behalf of our clients and the patients they serve."

"I am not surprised to see Virtual Radiologic retain its top ranking in the Teleradiology Services category," commented Dr. Corey Eber, vice chairman of the department of Radiology at Mount Sinai Hospital in New York City. "Having used other teleradiology providers in the past, I can say from personal experience that Virtual Radiologic is the superior provider. Virtual Radiologic has an excellent quality assurance review program, and the company's diligent approach to customer service has exceeded our expectations."
